To Whom It May Concern:

This recommendation is based on my experience working closely with the CLC - Construction Lien Consultant, LLC team in the last few months.

CLC demonstrated a professional approach to resolve one of the most complicated claims we have had in the last few years. Although CLC was hired by a sub-contractor to pursue a claim against our Company, CLC had approached us by getting sufficient information from both parties involved with the claims. I believe their past experience in resolving construction claims was crucial for handling and resolving our disagreement. The Team had spent sufficient time to gather information and investigated all facts involved in the claims and finally was able to resolve it before going to litigation.

Breton recommends their services to other companies seeking a professional consulting team to resolve any Mechanic's Liens or Construction Claims they might have. In addition, we will use their services in the future if needed.

Please contact me if further detailed information is required regarding CLC's services.
